

2017 Women in Wildfire Basic Training Camp

Los Padres National Forest

DEADLINE TO APPLY: Monday, September 18, 2017

The U.S. Forest Service, Los Padres National Forest, is seeking highly motivated females interested in a career in firefighting to participate in our Women in Wildfire Basic Training Camp. This camp is geared toward providing a bridge for female and underrepresented groups to wildland firefighting careers which they may not have otherwise been aware of. Participants will learn about careers in wildland fire with the Forest Service through basic firefighter training and leadership development. Individuals selected for this opportunity will be provided with a comprehensive wildland fire orientation, professional development, formal firefighter training, as well as certification and physical agility training. Upon completion of the training, participants are highly competitive for wildland fire positions.

- ✓ Would you like a career working outdoors?
- ✓ Do you want to help your community and your country?
- ✓ If so, then a Wildland Firefighter career may be for you!

Last year the Los Padres National Forest hosted its third annual Women In Wildfire Training Camp, of which 23 participants were selected and successfully completed the training camp. At least 14 of the 23 graduates (%60) have been selected and offered firefighting positions throughout the west coast. To date, a total of 64 participants have graduated from the program and at least 26 graduates have worked or received employment offers to work in firefighting positions and for the Forest Service since completing the training. Camp Schedule and Location

This year's 4th Annual Women in Wildfire Basic Training Camp will begin Sunday, December 10, 2017, and conclude Friday, December 15, 2017. The 6 day, 5 night Camp will be hosted in Santa Barbara, California. Training will include classroom and hands-on field exercises. Participants will be provided with personal protective equipment and line gear. They will be taken on hikes to simulate activities that wildland firefighters regularly perform to gain a better understanding of the physical demands of the job. Full attendance is mandatory, and selected participants must participate and be present all 6 days and 5 nights of the camp. If selected, participants will be paid for the training and physical fitness test portion of the camp.

Our goal is for the location and surrounding area to be an ideal setting for this event. A large grass field will be used as a classroom and will serve as the physical and outdoor training area. The location will offer room and board for participants and cadre. Participants will be staying in cabins and gathering at a large hall with commercial kitchen staffed with cooks to provide meals throughout the week.

Tentative Location: 2550 Highway 154 (across from Cachuma Lake), Santa Barbara, CA 93105

Training Provided

Employment available

There are multiple options to obtaining a Wildland firefighter position. Temporary, Administratively Determined (on-call) and other seasonal summer opportunities are available. This training camp opportunity will not guarantee any type of employment. However, the Training Camp does provide certification, knowledge, and skills that will enable participants to be competitive when applying for wildland firefighter positions. In addition, camp participants will receive professional development such as resume building, application workshops, and networking opportunities during the Training Camp. Participation in the training will allow you access to professionals in the field of firefighting and other professions in the Forest Service. In addition, various female leaders from the fire community (e.g., Hotshot crews, firefighters, trainers, etc.) will provide mentorship as well as training. All these relationships can lead to future job and career opportunities in firefighting and with the federal government.

Entry-level Wildland Fire position description

If you obtain a position in wildland fire, duties may include the following:

- Participate in training and physical fitness.
- Keep yourself and your equipment fit for duty, and in response-ready condition.
- Travel and work 14 and possibly 21 day assignments, including out of the state.
- Safely engage in wildland fire suppression and emergency response operation activities.
- Exposure to primitive living conditions such as camping in wilderness areas away from electricity, showers, and with no cell phone reception for several days.
- Tasked with operating vehicles both on and off road, hiking, commercial flights, boat rides, and mission flights on helicopters are just some of the modes of transportation which can be expected on the job.
- Wildland Firefighters can operate in close proximity to open flames, heat and smoke.
- The work can be physically demanding, requiring up to 16 hour work days for up to 14 days in a row without a day off.
- The work consists of hiking, carrying heavy equipment, operating fire apparatus, working near heavy machinery, and using hand tools such as shovels, Pulaskis, and chainsaws, sometimes in highly stressful situations.
- Respect, flexibility, understanding, and teamwork are the foundation of any good firefighter and firefighting crew. Exhibiting these principles both on and off the clock is very important.

Minimum Federal Qualification Requirements

- 1. Must be 18 years of age or older
- 2. Must be in good mental and physical condition
- 3. Must be able to pass the basic wildland firefighter training (provided)
- 4. Must be able to pass the Agency Work Capacity Test at the "Arduous" level

About the Forest

The Los Padres National Forest provides Southern California and the Central Coast Area with a variety of terrain, vegetation, and recreational settings. There are 1,257 miles of maintained trails which provide both day-use and extended backpacking opportunities. Much of the forest is unroaded and primitive and has 10 congressionally designated wilderness areas comprising approximately 875,000 acres, or about 48% of the forest. These include the Ventana, Silver Peak, Santa Lucia, Machesna, Garcia, San Rafael, Dick Smith, Sespe, Matilija and Chumash wildernesses. The forest is divided into five administrative units called "Ranger Districts" with district offices in King City, Santa Maria, Santa Barbara, Ojai and Frazier Park.
